Planning Celebration For Coronation Day

The second gala event scheduled for the Town of Coleman is rapidly taking shape as the Town Council and the Board of Trade prepare plans for the Coronation on June 2.

Mayor Aboussay introduced the matter to the council in regular meeting a week ago Tuesday night, discussed following regarding celebration. Council members sank their teeth into the problem within seconds with a decision to order a new flag as the first step. Street decorations, fireworks and bonfires on the hillsides were some of the matters that came under discussion, all members feeling that some celebration should be held.

Councillor Woods suggested that the town contact other organizations to join forces and make the celebration complete and worthwhile. This suggestion resulted in the mayor and councillor Toppano delegated to bring the matter before the Board of Trade.

Wednesday night, councillor Toppano introduced the Coronation celebration to Coleman business men who were attending the regular Board of Trade meeting. Enthusiasm equal to council's were evidenced following Mr. Toppano's remarks. The Board assumed the responsibility of organizing committee and will call a meeting of all organizations within the town to lay out detailed plans.

Members of the Crows Nest Pass Retail Merchants Association met in the Italian hall on Monday night, March 16, to review the achievements of the past year and elect a new slate of officers. President Dick Harper, of Blainmore and Secretary W. Frank Coleman, received acknowledgment of their past year efforts when the gathering returned to the office by acclamation. W. Dibley of Coleman was elected to fill the office of vice-president.

An executive covering the entire Pass was elected with J. Allen Jr. and A. Monibelli representing Coleman, H. Lord and T. Catonello representing Blainmore, L. Cousins and A. Brazzoni, Bellevue, and A. Carpenter, Hillcrest.

The secretary advised the gathering that Coleman would not observe May 1st holiday due to the fact that it was not a statutory holiday and that it would conflict with Monday closing. The decision for other Pass towns was left in the hands of the executive, along with the question of Rodeo Day closing for the Crows Nest Pass.

Kananaskis Road Signs

The need of signs within the town of Coleman to point out the Kananaskis road was brought up at the Board of Trade last Wednesday night. The present signs were considered inadequate and the question posed as to what should be done in this regard.

Information was heard that the Forestry department were surveying a new approach to the road eliminating the twisting and turning through the town itself. Adam Wilson informed the gathering that he had been informed the A.M.A. branch at Lethbridge were planning to erect suitable signs at the Coleman end and that the Calgary city must also bring greater honor to the Seebe end of the road.

Winnifred McIntyre Is Honored by Club

Two former members of the Alberta Newman Club were admitted to the John Henry Newman Honorary Society during the 1953 convention of the Canadian Federation of Newman Clubs held at Ottawa. The Honor Key, symbolic of membership in the society was awarded to Winnifred McIntyre and Frank O'Dwyer. This is the highest national award possible in Newmanism given to candidates who are practical Catholics of outstanding virtue and have records of devoted service for a number of years in Newman clubs.

Winnifred graduated in Education in 1930. In her student days she was very active in Catholic girls' residence on the campus. Winnifred was instrumental in the setting up of Newman Hall, the Catholic girls' residence on the University of Alberta campus. She also promoted the Holy Hours which were begun at St. Joseph's College Chapel. Winnifred was an active member of Newman Club in all its fields. Frank was an ardent promoter of spirituality in all its forms at St. Joseph's College. In 1951 Frank represented the University of Alberta at the Canadian Federation of Newman Clubs convention held at Vancouver. As Spiritual Convener on the Newman Club executive in 1950-51, Frank did a commendable job.

Anniversary Planning Well Underway

Advertising Chairman Bill Holyk amazed the Board of Trade and turned the meeting into another full of enthusiasm and suggestions on Wednesday night as he gave a report on his work in advertising the Back Home Week. Following on the heels of pleasing reports from other committees, Bill opened his brief case and began a recital of work achieved that most listeners figure would have taken months rather than the weeks that Bill has been working. Starting on routine matters, he informed the Board that he had ordered bumper cards and billboards to advertise the show. Arrangements have been made with Ed. Somshor of the Roxy Theatre for advertising by screen. Ed suggesting that a short made up of Coleman rodeos and other matters be made for showing before and after the show. No charge for the showing would be made by the Roxy.

The bookie tracing the history of Coleman took up the prelude part of the evening, Bill amazing his listeners with a complete report of contributions received from far and wide both as to the bookie and produce for the auction or bingo. Bill presented his report in detail and explained the steps taken in regard to the bookie. Queries were asked at this point regarding page size and advertising policy with the

He is the leader of the second violin section of the Calgary Symphony Orchestra, and the winner of the open violin competition in the 1951 and 1952 New Festivals, awarded a Bantam School of Fine Arts scholarship for strings for the same two years. Mr. Perkins also received a silver medal and scholarship from the Western Board of Music and Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto in 1953.

FANNY BAY COUPLE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stokes, of Fanny Bay, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary quietly in Sunday, February 15, at their home. They were married at Stokess' parish church, Shropshire, England, February 15, 1903 and came to Canada in 1910. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes made their home in Alberta until 1944; since that time they have resided at Fanny Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Stokes resided for some time in Coleman and are remembered by many old friends.

Harry Boulton reported on the slogan contest and the steps made to get the former residents to come home, also on the plans for scenic trips during the week. Arising from this report was the decision that trips would take place on Thursday and Friday. President Hill at this point informed the gathering that there was a possibility that the official unveiling of the cairn at the Fanny Bay might be delayed from its April date to coincide with the Coleman show if the matter was taken up with the Historical Society and the government. Should this be arranged, he felt that the event could be held as a memorial day on the Sunday.

Jim Willeke reported that he had contacted the army at Blainmore regarding fireworks and had been assured that the army would be prepared to put up a good show. This matter will be followed up.

Closing out another action packed meeting President Hill spent a few minutes to thank those in attendance, remarking that the discussion had been interesting, the interest had been high, and the work done by the various chairmen had been commendable. All this he stated made it very encouraging to the chair.

New Committees are Named By Council

Viewpoint Discussed

The proposed viewpoint west of Coleman was discussed at the recent Board of Trade meeting with Mayor Aboussay asserting that this should be a Coleman project.

On query from President Hill, Mayor Aboussay informed the gathering that the Department of Highways has decided to build the viewpoint asking only that someone guarantee the price of a cat to be hired for the work. The department will fence the area, fill in and put a road around it. It would be the responsibility of Coleman to provide signs and benches for the use of tourists that will stop there to view the beauty that surrounds us.

Bantams Playing For Alta. Title

At press time coach Morris' high flying bantams are engaged in a two game series with Vegreville for the provincial title.

In the first game Vegreville won 4-2. Complete detail next week.

Coach Johnny Morris' Bantams showed Bassano under in the closing twenty minutes in a sudden death game at Bellevue Friday night to emerge as finalists for the Alberta Country Bantam Championship. The Morris crew won the contest by a 11-5 score.

The Coleman club played inspired hockey, the heavy Central Zone Champs from Bassano keeping in the game for the first two periods only to have the roof fall on them in the third. Coleman went ahead 3-0 in the first with goals by Churlia, Churney and Makowichuk and Makowichuk from Churlia and Filaflo. Bassano notched to Coleman's 2 in the second and drew within one goal of the local quad going into the third and final period. Churlia from Churney and Makowichuk from Churlia and Churney was the making of the pattern in their poorest period as far as goal getting was concerned.

Barry Fraser entered the scoring columns during the third, once more giving his usual third period performance that has scuttled the comeback efforts of other teams and at the same time pacing his teammates to increased scoring. Fraser scored on a play from Makowichuk at the thirty second mark, starting a spree that saw Coleman sink 3 counters in 1 minute and 50 seconds, putting the Indian sign on the prairie puckchangers. Gentle scored the second of the last three unassisted, Churney the third on a play with Makowichuk and Churlia. At this point the potent Churlia, Churney and Makowichuk line saw Fraser take over the scoring chores with an unassisted goal and another with the help of Tarcon. Evans got the eleventh Coleman marker with an assist to Tarcon.

Coleman's hockey hopes rests on these young shoulders to bring home a trophy now that their older brothers have been sidelined. These hopes are founded not on any desire for fame or the sake of a battered trophy, but as recognition for a great bunch of kids caused by a play with a good spirit, good conduct and good coaching. Win or lose, they have played the game in a manner that brings credit to the town and the men behind them.

Coleman: Joseph, Fraser, Gentle, Makowichuk, Churney, Churney, Cornett, Evans, Tarcon, Filaflo, Hewitt, Liska, Saloff.

Coleman Town Council sat in regular session Tuesday, March 17 completing considerable business and laying the ground work for another year of decisions and public service. Councillors Bert Bond and Angelo Toppano signed their papers. Mayor Aboussay welcoming Mr. Bond to the council.

Two delegations visited the chambers, one regarding Light rates and J. Allen Jr. presenting a petition asking for an amendment to the Monday closing bylaw. Discussing the power rate, Mayor Aboussay asserted that the council had no jurisdiction in the business section had not materialized as visualized and that the matter would be left for another two weeks. Mr. Allen and Water Company work on adjustments. In many cases the mayor stated the users can not reach the 24c rate and it was felt that it should be within the reach of the people.

Correspondence was heard from the supervisor of field service regarding a contract for the fighting of fires in the improvement district by the Coleman brigade. The decision of the council was that the town would leave the matter in abeyance until Mr. Swan visits the area, meanwhile they would continue to give assistance to the outlying areas. It was pointed out that the Coleman brigade face a disadvantage in fighting these fires due to the lack of water and that the Coleman department was at present training volunteers from both East Coleman and Willow Drive.

Additional correspondence treated school matters, the board asking that some action be taken regarding dogs. Council was agreed that the dogs should be kept from the streets by chains, but felt that parents could assist by preventing the children and that the last-mentioned action was in the grounds to do this work.

A grant of $25 was given the Red Cross and the decision made that the Coleman station was not to follow the action of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities should the membership not be exorbitant.

A report on fire hazards was brought before the council, the main items proving to be faulty chimneys and the indiscriminate dumping of ashes. A motion was made to assist by having the ash dumping and garbage burning be enforced. A letter will be sent those violating the bylaw and if compliance does not follow within a certain time, notice will be notified to take action.

School matters entered discussion at second time with the council checking the new budget and requisition. It was noticed that both items had increased over last year's budget, the main item seeming to be wages. This budget was left until grants to be received by the school are in and a clearer picture shown.

The petition presented by the delegation was approved and last year's assessment adopted.

A report of another accident on the bridge to Willow Drive resulted in the towns decision to erect a temporary railing and checkerboard sign to protect those using the bridge. This matter has taken considerable time in past meetings, council emphatic that upkeep is not their problem. A letter will be sent Highways Minister Taylor and should this fail to bring results a second letter will be forwarded the Premier.

The budget for 1953 was brought before the meeting councillors checking their estimates and discussing the various needs. A further study and revisions will be made before the next meeting.

Closing out a night packed with the important business discussed the coronation celebration particulars of which will be found elsewhere.

Appointments for the year were appointed as follows:

Works and Prop, Ramsay, Dibley, Bond.
Finance, Toppano, Ramsay, Dibley.
Police, Woods and full council.
Relief and Health, Wavrean, Bond, Woods.
Fire, Woods, Toppano, Ramsay.
Sports Assoc., Toppano, Wavrean.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

PARTY LINE

Jim Said, "I've Never Seen
Such Brown Eyes. Lena Is A Funny Name."

By Charlotte McCarthy

THE phone shrilled suddenly, drowning out the ticking of the old clock, and filling the kitchen with its clamor. Three long and one short. This call was for the new family which had moved recently to the old farm across the valley. Doris had been fairly burning with curiosity and her father had brought the welcome news from town that there were several daughters . . . one around her own age.

Dad had said, at the supper table last night, that she should go over and visit the new folks; let them know that they had moved to a friendly neighborhood. But she thought that she would wait until her mother got her new voffe dress finished. Not that she wanted to show off, but someone had seen the oldest daughter at a party and had mentioned that she was real stylish.

Wouldn't it be nice if the one about her age would start keeping company with Bart Stewart, Jim's best friend, and then the four of them could go on picnics together? For instance, when the young men started playing baseball, as they always did in Mason's meadow between haying and harvest, the two of them could sit on the fence and watch, while Bart and Jim played, instead of listening to the older women talking of pickling and preserving.

Funny that she hadn't seen Jim in the last few days. Probably busy on his potatoes. She took Jim for granted now, and yet she could still remember how embarrassed and proud she had been the first night he had walked her home from church. Everyone knew that he was her steady fellow, and around here that was as good as an engagement. Only once had she heard of a couple in the valley breaking up after "going steady". That was Irene Deane and Herb Bell . . . he had taken up with a strange girl from town. Irene, who later married a widower from Cedarville, still played the organ in Sunday school. Doris often wondered how she had ever lived it down.

The phone rang again. This time, one long and two short . . . Jim's home. On an impulse, she ran across and saved off the receiver. Evidently Bart was calling. "How'd you make out at the new people's place last night? You picked the one I liked best, too."

Bewildered, she heard Jim's voice: "The old man didn't want to listen at first. Seems she's pretty young, and he wanted to keep her around. I've never seen such brown eyes. Lena is a funny name . . ."

Well, she had to find out and the sooner the better. Doris replaced the receiver softly. "What are you mooning about?" Her mother's voice was tired but cheerful, an anchor in a lost world. "Seems like those directions grow in a dozen different directions at once." She pushed the battered hat back from her damp forehead, where a strand of greying hair winged in the brown, and smiled at her daughter, "Mum." It was a desperate plea. "Could you and Dad spare me to go to work in town for awhile? I've got to go. Honest!"

"What would Jim have to say to this?"

"What's it got to do with Jim? It's no business of his!" At the stark misery in the young eyes, the older woman turned quickly. "Don't you worry, honey. If you're set on going, your Dad won't say a word."

"Guess I'll get the cows. The flies down in the pasture were chewing them to pieces when I got them last night." She patted her mother's shoulder with gentle awkwardness. "I'll just hate to leave you and Dad."

Going down the path, the tears she could no longer keep back splashed on the front of her dress. Summer was almost over, and the wild roses by the fence were fading fast; their velvety petals, like ghosts of broken dreams, drifting softly to rest.

After the chores were finished, Doris huddled miserably on the back porch. A single star shone over the poplar on the hill, and an owl hooted its eternal question from the grove beyond. Suddenly the little, square-shouldered form of Jim Porter loomed out of the dusk, and dropped on the step beside her.

"I have news for you, Jim. I've decided to go away to work soon, and meet some new folks. I don't intend to spend the rest of my life in the valley."

"Why, Doris?" He peered through the gloom. "I'd always figured you and I'd be married. I even had a surprise for you. That new man has a herd of Jerseys and I bought a little beauty from him . . . sort of cream colored, with the biggest, brownest eyes. He tried to sell me an older cow, but somehow I thought you'd like this one. Name's Lena though I guess it doesn't matter what her name is."

The star was suddenly very near . . . and breath-takingly beautiful. "Oh, but it does matter, Jim." Her hand was warm on his arm, where the smooth muscles rippled under the skin. "It matters a whole lot what the cow's name is!"

Goldfields, Boom Town, Is Being Moved To New Site

SASKATOON — Goldfields, a ghost mining town since the northwestern Saskatchewan gold rush with which it was born, petered out 10 years ago, now is being wiped off the map in the wake of the uranium rush. Remaining buildings in Goldfields, on the north shore of Lake Athabasca 500 miles north of Saskatoon, are being moved across the lake ice to the new, thriving town of Uranium City which sprang up 10 miles away last year during Saskatchewan's record uranium striking rush.

The move symbolizes the switch in importance in Saskatchewan from the "old minerals" to uranium. It also heralds the greatest year so far in the history of mineral development in the province.

In virtually every mineralized location north of the 55th parallel, hordes of prospectors and mining men are probing and listening for the uranium. Fabulous claims have been made for many discoveries and even more startling reports are likely to be made as knowledge of more recent finds becomes public.

Near Uranium City, in the 600-square-mile Beaverledge uranium field, two mines are scheduled to go into production early this year, one by the federal Crown corporation, Eldorado, and the other by a private company. Discoveries in the area will be proved up after the snow goes.

Just north of the 55th parallel, similar activity is forecast for properties near Lac La Ronge, farther east and 130 miles north of Prince Albert.

Between Lac La Ronge and Athabasca lies the chain of narrow waterways known as the Foster lakes. Here, according to sketchy reports leaking out of the area, Saskatchewan is likely to find rich mineral deposits.

Uranium ore is reported in addition to deposits of cobalt, zinc, copper, gold and silver.

The area's nearness to Lac La Ronge—it is only 113 air miles from the northern settlement—indicates that it may be of more importance to the province than the Beaverledge field, which is really accessible only from Waterways, the end of steel just across the border in Alberta.

Before any diamond drilling is done, claims have to be probed and trenches and samples of ore analyzed. The results must show that the claims are rich enough to warrant expenditure of many hundreds of thousands of dollars in drilling programs.

Already, since it became important late last year, more than 900 claims have been staked in the Foster lakes area. The major holdings are by Eldorado.

SASKATCHEWAN BOASTS RADIO-ACTIVE HIGHWAY

REGINA. — Existence of what is probably the world's only radio-active highway was disclosed to members of the Saskatchewan Legislature.

James Ripley (L—Athabasca) told the Legislative public accounts committee that two truckloads of uranium ore from a uranium mine in the Lake Athabasca area were mistakenly dumped into a highway for fill.

The highway is 13 miles long and leads from the uranium mines to the shipping docks on Lake Athabasca, in the northwest corner of the province.

In 1919 it took a British dirigible 108 hours to fly across the Atlantic.

Queen Mary Succumbs

Dowager Queen Mary died peacefully in her sleep Tuesday night following prolonged illness. She was 85.

There will be a period of mourning befitting the Queen whose life spanned a momentous period of history, but it is felt the coronation will go on as planned.

Central School Is Much Discussed Subject

Daily papers and other weeklies throughout the Pass are devoting considerable space to the plan of locating a Central High School for Pass towns. For the betterment of educational facilities if for no other reason it is to be hoped that some action is taken.

By action we mean something other than newspaper talk and discussion at meetings. New in the area we first heard the project discussed at the ratepayers' meeting of the school last fall and again this year at the annual ratepayers' meeting. At both these events school board members emphasized that they had instituted such measures, inviting a speaker from the Department of Education to enlighten a meeting of the various boards as to the advantages and organization. Apparently following the address Pass towns failed to get together in further meetings and the individual school boards had no alternative but to go ahead and provide class rooms rather than wait for a dream to materialize.

Looking back through the newspapers of other years we found the following headline taking a prominent part on the front page of the Journal of March 27, 1930.

"Central High School For Pass Town Favored by Trustees"

According to the accompanying news story a two day survey had been conducted in Bellevue, Hillcrest, Frank, Blairmore and Coleman by Dr. George Gorman, Chief Inspector of High Schools and Dr. W. G. Carpenter, head of the Calgary Technical Institute. It also stated that a similar scheme had been planned in 1920.

The result of this investigation showed the plan to transport the children by train eliminating the hazard of blocked roads and giving the children more comfort. Coleman was regarded as the ideal location for the school due to the fact that train schedule favored Coleman who had the larger school population and largest teaching staff.

When you consider that the idea started back as far as 1920, was reshaped and surveyed in 1930, brought up and discussed at intervals since that time, it is apparent that some concrete action should be taken rather than sit around discussing it in meeting. School boards must provide facilities for the children as it is needed and most people feel the Coleman board is doing a good job. It is apparent that they realize the benefits arising from a Central School and most likely would go along with it should something materialize. For the present they are meeting the problems as they arise, trying to ascertain next year's needs this year so that the children do not suffer crowding or neglect due to unbalanced classes. In this regard we feel they are doing a good job.

Sister Fisher, Noble Grand, extended the welcome from the local lodge. Lunch was served. Mr. Whitworth is the only original member of the youth committee now.

Red Cross workers were busy this last week preparing pillow cases, sheets and girls' flannel-ette underwear ready for sewing. Several dozens of each article were distributed, some to women's organizations who prefer to do Red Cross sewing within their own group, some to the ladies at the Lime Works, who found it inconvenient to come in Wednesday afternoons, and the remainder to independent sewers who are unable to come to the work-rooms. Work was continued on the quilt tops. There is now colored wool on hand for socks and sweaters. It is very encouraging to see this local group getting off to a good start. Ladies, please support them — let us have a group that Coleman can be proud of.

THRILLS of the ROARIN' GAME

Those "Forgotten" Stones

(Contributed)
While sitting at the Deer Lodge Club in Winnipeg some few years ago against George Kimberley of Kenora, his third man forgot to throw one of his stones. He asked me what he should do, and I answered, "Play the rock." George then asked if he himself could play the stone, and I said, "Sure go ahead." He walked to the other end and, with hardly a glance, threw the rock through the house, remarking, "That's the way forgotten stones should be played."

This same experience happened to us in reverse during the Winnipegspiel when Willie of the Fort Garry Club insisted that we play a forgotten stone. With a possible five cent in sight, we played the stone just like George Kimberley did, only to have Skip Wilde, with his last stone, intentionally try to bump one of our stones in for shot.

These two incidents, especially the one with Kimberley, have made a deep impression on my thoughts and regard for my fellow man—for in our queer world we cannot go far wrong as long as we have men of like caliber among us.

New Variety Of Barley Licensed For Sale

SASKATOON. — "Husky" a new barley variety developed at the University of Saskatchewan after 15 years of breeding, has been licensed for sale in Canada. Dr. J. B. Harrington, head of the field husbandry department, announced. Formerly known as N x 1-11 (N times one dash eleven), it is a smooth-awned, six-row, white-seeded variety. The new variety is outstanding in yield and bushel weight, has good strength of straw and is rust-resistant.

This is the first important outcome of a barley breeding project begun at the university 15 years ago. Financial assistance was received in the early stages from the Canadian Malt- ing Company and the United Grain Growers, and more recently from the Barley Improvement Institute.

The original objective of the breeding program was to produce a new variety satisfactory to the malt- ing trade, the feed trade and for farm use. While the new variety is an excellent feed barley it is doubtful if it will make malted grades, said Dr. Harrington.

The new variety has shown remarkable performance in co-operation tests in western Canada. In each of the past three years "Husky" has outyielded standard varieties and hybrids being tested. In the seed plot tests, in each of which every standard variety appeared several times, "Husky" outyielded the best feed barley "Vantage" by 10 per cent. Maturity is the same as "Vantage", mid-season to late.

The breeding program was begun years ago by Dr. Harrington and the testing and evaluation has been carried on by Prof. L. H. Sheehski since 1947.

Limited amounts of seed have been placed in the hands of selected, highly-experienced seed growers to obtain a maximum seed increase. "Husky" will not be available for general distribution until 1954, said Dr. Harrington.

The soldiers of the 27th Brigade were unable to buy hot dogs here until Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Hopkinson, of Winnipeg, arrived at the British Red Shield Club.

After searching meat shops for weiners that tasted "right" and coaxing local bakers to turn out the right kind of buns, the Hopkinsons put the familiar "dogs" on the menu. Refresh was something that could not be bought, but the couple solved the problem by rushing up a supply of pickles and adding spices.

North Has Infinite Possibilities

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. — Canada's northland has "infinite" economic and social possibilities, the governor-general said in this buoyant mining community in the Northwest Territories. And, he added, its romantic appeal is not overstated.

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey said in a prepared speech to the Yellowknife Board of Trade and the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy that the north "now is revealing itself as a land where it needs only energy, determination and ingenuity to build large and thriving communities."

The old bogey of distance has been licked, he said, and the northland's inaccessibility now is a thing of the past. The airplane had solved "the insoluble problem" of distance.

Tests Of Wheat In Far North Show Yield High

EDMONTON. — J. A. Gilbey, officer in charge of the federal agriculture department's experimental sub-station at Fort Simpson, Northwest Territories, says far north wheat yields of from 45 to 50 bushels an acre have been obtained on observation tests.

Fort Simpson is about 825 miles north of Edmonton.

Mr. Gilbey said horticultural crops hold a primary interest in work at the Fort Simpson station. The part played by vegetables in raising the standard of living in northern communities is realized, along with the need of building up scientific data.

Mr. Gilbey said experiments also have been made with forage crops and cereals. The station has a poultry flock and has made a start on hog raising.

The grain observation trials were made with wheat, oats and barley. The station comprises 85 acres, 50 of which are under cultivation.

Mr. Gilbey and his wife are sold on the possibilities of the northland. Mrs. Gilbey was amazed when she first saw the lush wild strawberries and beautiful wild roses the land produces during its average of 86 frost-free days.

There is a pressing need for garden vegetables and potatoes, need which the Gilbays say will be stronger when mineral discoveries bring development of the area and a bigger population.

Northern housekeeping has its advantages and disadvantages, Mrs. Gilbey said. Her sun porch makes a first-class home freezer in the winter and the house boasts the conveniences of indoor plumbing, electricity and a telephone.

However, a year's shopping has to be done at one time, while the boats are running, and her bread is home-made since the kind that is for sale, baked by an old sourdough who stayed after gold-rush days, costs $1 for three loaves.

Weeklies Are Closer To Readers

OTTAWA. — Daily newspapers are impersonal and apart while the local newspaper "really makes friends and influences people," Associate Defense Minister Ralph Campney said here. Campney told the semi-annual meeting of the directors of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association that the daily newspapers perform a very necessary and useful function.

YOUR RED CROSS

WHAT IS IT DOING?

TO SAVE a life is this man's reason for giving his 77th birthday donation. For many years this gentleman has been a "Good Samaritan" giving without charge his blood to whoever may have need of it. When the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service started up he was one of the first to enroll as a regular donor.

All across Canada the Red Cross way. These have been followed up with almost daily shipments of clothing and other essential to the victims. In the meantime local minor disasters have occurred and have been given the same kind treatment. Throughout all these extra disasters Red Cross carries on its day to day business of operating Outpost Hospitals, Nursing Stations, Veterans Services, Swimming and Water Safety, Mothers Milk Bank, Missing Persons found, Junior Red Cross, Women's workrooms making clothing and a multitude of other services to individuals in trouble who cannot turn to anyone else but the Red Cross.

Besides supplying free blood the Red Cross operates many other services designed to relieve suffering and promote health among the people of Canada and elsewhere. In any case of human suffering the Red Cross stands ready to serve. This was dramatically put to the test when flood disaster struck Europe. Before the disaster person realized that a major disaster had occurred Red Cross had relief supplies on the way.

Clearing Tips For Goalkeepers

In modern hockey many goals are scored from rebounds during pressure play around the goal. When, as is often true today, three or four opponents are within a few feet of the goalkeeper, he must be a combination wizard and acrobat to clear the puck safely.

To control the rebound as much as possible, use your hands either to catch the puck or trap it against the body or pads, the stick kick when such a play is suitable, and keep a soft touch on the stick except when clearing the puck to the side, and behind the goal if possible.

The clearing play should be made as soon as possible after the shot has been made so that no attacker can break in quickly for the puck. The clearing move in which the puck is moved away with a sweep of the stick should be made the same as a pass with the blade of the stick following through along the ice after the puck has been moved. Don't jab at the puck.

If the foot is used to clear, the puck should be moved away with a sideways sweep of the foot so that the whole length of the blade is behind the puck. Never attempt to kick the puck with the toe of your skate. Some goalkeepers can clear well with one foot but are very awkward with the other. Make sure you practise until this weakness is overcome.

If you have any time to figure out where your clearing movements should be made, you should clear towards the side of the net to which there is a teammate.

The most important general fundamental of good clearing is keeping calm, cool, and relaxed. The goalkeeper who lets himself get tense and excited when surrounded by attackers will often make a bad move. At such times, the goalkeeper should check carefully on his muscle tension and try to loosen up his body if he feels himself growing tense and upset. Keep relaxed.

Dribbling Don'ts—Basketball

If you are to become a really good basketball player you must learn when to dribble the ball. If you pay special attention to this part of your game you will gain many valuable advantages that will help you play better basketball and thus help your team. Now, here are some dribbling don'ts to keep in mind:

1. Never dribble if you can make a good pass to a teammate.
2. Never dribble with your head down—keep it up and always be looking for a chance to pass the ball.
3. Never hog the ball by unnecessary dribbling—this will spoil your team play and make you unpopular.

Finally, never try to dribble the ball through two or three opponents—you will likely lose possession.

Always keep these points in mind and your play will improve.

Fatty Fatality

Now, more than ever before, the detrimental effects of excess weight on athletic activities are being investigated by physical educators. They have found that there is a general belief in the fallacy that extra weight means added power and strength, and that this extra weight is especially important in such body contact games as football and hockey. Don't you make this mistake. The leaner you are the faster, more agile, and alert you will be, plus the fact that your endurance is greatest when you carry no extra weight.

Helpful Hints

A drain will not clog if, about once a week, three or four tablespoons of soda are placed at the opening of the drain, then washed down the pipe with boiling water.

Try using a flour paste instead of tacking the new piece of oilcloth to the kitchen table. It will prevent cracks and wrinkles, will last longer and looks nicer.

If you notice a thin place, runner or hole in the stocking, darn it before washing it. This prevents the hole from becoming larger during the washing process.

Do not put the bread or cake away in the tin box used for this purpose until it is thoroughly cooled, or it will become soggy and heavy.

To remove iodine stains soak the stained area in two cups of warm water and soap suds, in which one tablespoon of household ammonia has been mixed.

But Is It Worth It?

One of the world's greatest bridge players, Capt. Ewart Kempson, claims "women play cards better when in a furious mood." Keep that in mind, sir. If your wife is going to be your bridge partner, do what you can to make her angry before the game begins. By the way, sir, what is it you do that most irritates your matrimonial mate?

Remember the Nurses, Too

Have you experienced a serious operation during your life? Are you inclined to discuss it? Samuel Pryor, the immortal diarist, had one serious operation. For the remainder of his life he celebrated the anniversary of that operation and annually sent the operating surgeon a present. Keep this in mind if some surgeon saved your life. Celebrate the anniversary of the operation and send said surgeon a present. And don't forget the nurses.

Moral: Keep a Diary

Where were you on the night of Nov. 12, 1952? Over 100,000 persons were asked that question in Belfast, Ireland, during the course of an investigation of a murder case. One thousand detectives went from door to door asking it. By the way, sir, where were you on the night of Nov. 12, 1952? Perhaps we should all keep a daily record of our movements, with names of witnesses in case we are asked questions like that.

Definition of a Dogie

Quizzes from clients. Q. What is the definition of a "dogie" as in the popular song, "Get Along Little Dogies, Get Along"? A. According to the accepted cowboy explanation, a "dogie" is a little calf that has lost its mother and whose father has run off with another cow.

The Woman's Side Of It

"Ten years ago when we were married, my husband was tall, slender and really terrific. A handsome guy," writes a New Yorker. "Now he is a fatso type, bulging all over, including an extra chin. When I think of how he looks in a bathing suit, I shudder. I still have the figure I had when a bride. I rate whistles on the beach. Why don't you smug, self-satisfied males get on to your own? A man likes to be seen with a good-looking, well-formed woman, what makes you incurable male dopes think a woman doesn't take pride in being with a handsome man? It's a thrill for a wife to have somebody say, 'So that handsome man with you was for a while a fatso.' I had that said to me the first two years of my marriage, your husband." I had that said to me the first two years of my marriage, your husband. I had that said to me the first two years of my marriage, your husband. I had that said to me the first two years of my marriage, your husband.

Ace Publicity Man

James S. Moran, highly imaginative press agent of the old school, first attracted attention by introducing a canary that could sing "Yankee Doodle". Subsequently he wagered he could find a needle in a haystack and won the bet. He also made good a claim he could high an ostrich egg by sitting on it.

Expensive Pastime

During the month before her marriage to the Duke of Windsor, Mrs. Wallis Simpson bought 107 dresses and 46 hats in Paris. On another occasion in New York city, the duchess bought 45 hats in one afternoon. No wonder she has won the title of the world's best-dressed woman 10 years in succession.

Alaskan Volcano Comes To Life

The valley of 10,000 smokes in Katmai National Park, on the Alaskan Peninsula, becomes scene of a spectacular volcanic eruption as smoke and steam shoot half a mile into the air from the left wall of Mount Trident. Lava was reported seen at the lower edge of the crater. At right is Mt. Katmai, which erupted in 1912.—Central Press Canada.

Some Drive!

EDMONTON.—Recently an Edmonton oil worker went off at the Municipal Golf links and later the ball was found 240 air miles northwest of here.

Stu McKay soaked the ball in a long-distance driving contest during a zany winter golf match staged as proof that oil men can play or work no matter the conditions. An oil-well drilling crew found the ball, still tied to tattered remains of a balloon. The balloon had been filled with helium.

REWARD FOR LOST LEGS

ROLVENDEN, England.—The reward list at a police station in this Kent community included £2 for recovery of "two legs lost on a local highway." They were legs of a grand piano, lost from a truck.

NEW BRITISH LAMP RIVALS THE SUN

Research scientists in Britain have produced what is believed to be the brightest lamp ever seen on earth. Brighter than the sun, the new flash type lamp gives almost 1,000,000 candles per square inch. The sun's brightness is about 800,000 candles to the square inch. Primarily produced to enable ophthalmologists to take colour photographs of the inside of the human eye, the lamp is already being used on many forms of medical research, including cancer study.

USEFUL COURSE

CALGARY.—The fire department plans special courses to teach baby sitters what to do in case of fire. Certificates will be presented to the baby-sitters who complete the course successfully. They were legs of a grand piano, lost from a truck.

PLUMBERS

GET THEIR NAME FROM THE LATIN "PLUMBUM" MEANING LEAD. THE EARLY ROMANS WERE HIGHLY SKILLED IN THE PRODUCTION OF LEAD PIPES FOR PLUMBING.

ANSWER: No. Porterhouse has a small bone equally dividing it. T-bone has a large T-shaped bone dividing large and small portions, the smaller being tenderloin.

Garden Notes

For Amateur Gardeners

INDOORS FIRST

The first plantings will be the seeds started in flats on the window sill or in hotbeds or green houses. These are sown early in March and by the time they are ready to transplant to permanent quarters outside they will be six to ten inches high. Things that should be started early in this way are those that if sown directly out of doors would hardly have sufficient time to mature or flower. Tomatoes, cabbage, peppers come in this category in the vegetables and petunias, zinnias, begonias and scores of other flowering plants.

Many gardeners in the cities and towns are able to buy these as started plants in flats from seedsmen or nurserymen. But in some cases, of course, this is not possible. Then again there are some gardeners who, to make certain of particular varieties, grow their own plants anyway. Where the garden is large and several hundreds of started plants are needed it is cheaper to grow one's own. In this case, however, a hotbed is advisable. For the construction of these affairs one should consult a government bulletin. For starting seed indoors use a good mixture of sand and fine loam.

First planting outside will be very hardy things that are not afraid of frost and like to make their best growth in cool weather. Sweet peas are in this group, and grass seed and nursery stock. The latter is the trade name for young vines, shrubs and trees, ready for transplanting. One can hardly plant these things too soon.

WHEN SOIL IS READY

With trees and other nursery stock one can move or transplant when the soil is rather damp, but it is a mistake to do any general sowing or cultivating while the ground is the least bit muddy. Heavy soil is actually moved and later trouble results when it is dug or worked too soon. A good test is to take a little earth and squeeze it in the hand. If when released it crumbles but does not pack it is fit for the spade or plow.

GOOD SEED THE KEY

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on good seed. That means more than just high quality. It is seed of varieties especially selected and for Canadian conditions. In vegetables it also means that the variety has been approved and tested officially for Canada. As seed is the only factor in gardening over which one has absolute control, and it costs only a few cents, nothing but the best should be considered.

CONSTANT IMPROVEMENT

Last Spring, in three or four experimental grounds across Canada and in similar places in the northern part of the United States, certain seeds of vegetables and flowers were planted. Only a test number identified these new introductions of plant breeders from all over the world. Experts watched the results. They noted hardiness, freedom from disease, pureness of coloring in flowers, quality in the vegetables, earliness and other points which make a plant suitable and valuable for our hardy climate.

On the basis of their observations these new introductions were approved or disqualified. The best of these, along with those of previous years will be listed in the Canadian seed catalogue this spring.

This is the way new developments in the garden world are introduced to the home gardener. In few gardens are the results of research, experiment and field trials made available so quickly for amateur or commercial use.

Almost one-third of the weight of the bird's egg shell is made up of a turtlet's lat is lost as scrap in the manufacturing process.

The female of the peregrine falcon which for centuries was used for hunting, is much larger and fiercer than the male.
